THE TROUBLE WITH TURKEY. LONDON, Nov. 6 .- The Anglo-Turkish war cloud has lifted a little for the time being. After somewhat extended correspondence and much diplomatic finesse Lord Salisbury waters will be delayed ten days in order to afford the Turkish Government an opportunity to convince England that the reforms promised by the former in the was based will be executed genuinely and in good faith.

Lord Salisbury insists that Turkey shall keep her agreement to the letter in reference to the rectification of the boundary line between her territory and Greece's. He also reminded the Sultan's Government racy. that King George, at his recent address after the opening of the Grecian Chambers. now in session at Athens, made especial mention of this matter, and said that Turkey was damaging the interests and imperilling the peace of Greece by her conduct.

TILDEN TALK.

The Veteran Politician Regards This as an Off Year.

National Associated Press to the Star New York, Nov. 7.—An agent of the National Associated Press visited John Kelly vesterday at his office in the County Court-house, but the Tammany chieftain declined to talk regarding the effect of the election. It is known, however, that privately he has expressed his determination to fight Tilden to the bitter end.

A visit was subsequently paid to the residence of Hon. Samuel J. Tilden in Gramercey Park. The veteran politician was found in consultation with several of his political managers, who had come from the interior of the State. One of these gentlemen, who was seen subsequently, said: "Mr. Tilden regrets exceedingly the defeat of Governor Rebinson, and says the tax-payer of the State will also have reason to

He deplores the existing dissension in the ranks of the Democracy, and claims that the vote for Potter, the Democratic candida e for Lieutenant Governor, shows conclusively that New York is a Democratic State and likely to remain so.

Regarding New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Tilden attributes the Republican success to the influence of a Republican adminis-tration, and has no doubt of a Democratic success in the Presidential contest of 1880, and regards this as an "off year" in failures.

ELECTION ECHOES.

WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 7 .- Of the thirty-three members of the State Senate, sixteen were elected on Tuesday, the balance hold over from last year. Of the sixteen elected on Tuesday eleven are Republicans and five Democrats. The next Senate therefore will stand: Republicans, 25; Democrats, 8, a Republican majority of 17. This is the largest majority that any party has had in many years. In the Assembly the Republicans will have a very large majority, but it is not vet possible to give anything like

New York, Nov. 7.—The f dlowing is the full vote in this city for State officers: For Governor—Cornell, 46.205; Robinson, 64,-416; Kelly, 42.977. Lieutenant Governor—Harking 50.055. Pattern S. 625. 416; Kelly, 42.971. Lieutenant Governor— Hoskins, 50,025; Potter, 98,675. Secretary of State — Carr. 49,786; Beach, 89,132. Comptroller—Wadsworth, 51 094; Occut, 98.057. Treasurer — Wendell, 50,209; Mackin, 89.408. Attorney General—Ward, 53,208; Schoonmaker, 97,216. State Engi-neer—Soule, 47,465; Seymour, Jr., 99,209.

NEW YORK STILL IN DOUBT. ALBANY, Nov. 7 .- Corrected returns from ALBANY, Nov. 7.—Corrected returns from dispatches received last night indicate the election of Hoskins, Republican, for Lieutenant Governor, by a small majority. The other State officers, except Soule, run ahead of Hoskins and are undoubtedly elected. The election of Soul is very doubtful. The Argus says the State officers are in doubt. The Evening Journal says Hoskins is 455 votes ahead of Potter in the State. Cornell's plurality is put at 48. has notified the Turkish Minister that the the State, Cornell's plurality is put at 48,000. The probabilities are that the next departure of the British fleet for Turkish Legislature will stand, Senate—Republicans, 25; Democrats, 4; Tanmany Democrats, 3. Assembly—Republicans, 91; Democrats, 35; Independents, 2.

Noon-With the exception of Cornell, the result of the election in this State is protocols upon which the treaty of Berlin still in doubt. Both the Republicans and Democrats claim the balance of the State ticket. It is believed that the official count will elect all the Republican candidates except, perhaps, Soule for Engineer. MORROW'S MARCH.

Details of His Rapid Raid into Mexico,

Where He Walloped Victorio's Flying Hosts.

Special to the Star.

DENVER, COL., Nov. 7 .- A special to the Tribune from Santa Fe gives details of Gen. Morrow's raid into Mexico after Victorio's fleeing band: After leaving his retreat at the headwaters of the Rio Las Animas and the last six months have been liquidated, the Negro Cuchillo, from which positions he was forced by the troops, Victorio hastened toward Mexico, following a trail through passes between the Guadalupe and the Alamos Mountains, and crossing the southwestern corner of Texas. Morrow struck Victorio on the 27th of October, and fought him and punished him severely, at a point about sixty miles south of the line, near Carobias River, in Mexico.

Morrow lost two men killed and had two men wounded. Victorio's band scattered, and Morrow, being two hundred miles from his supplies and two days' march from the line, was compelled to return. But for these untoward circumstances, Major Morrow would have followed the Indians until they should have surrendered or been compelled to stand a decisive fight.

Major M rrow reports that Victorio had been reinforced by the Mescalero Apaches and Hal's band of Chihual:us Apaches.

The command has undergone much hard ship, at one time being seventy hours with out water. They lost a great many animals on their chase, through thirst and other hardships.

While Morrow was in Old Mexico a portion of the command under Captain Carroll with two companies of the Ninth Cavalry. thoroughly scoured the Mimbres Floridas and Magallon mountains.

Major Morrow thinks Victorio will return as soon as he can gather sufficient renegades, and as this is more than likely the military authorities are preparing to give him a warm reception. Since October 20th Morrow's command has marched over seven hundred miles of a projected matrimonial alliance between hard, wild country, and most of the time going for twenty-four hours without water. The command was made up of five hundred

AMUSEMENTS.

T.IR ITALIAN GRAND OPERA.

Lovers of opera which have been present at the Grand this week without an exception express themselves as very highly pleased with Mr. Strakosch's present company. He makes no pretension of having any star of overshadowing greatness, but he does claim to have a fine company, and one that can sing not only acceptably but very finely any opera that has been announced. In numbers the company is very full, and it is possible to present a new opera at every performance without any "off night" entertainments.

Of the three leading singers, Mile. Litta, Mile. La Blanch and Mile. Singer, opinions will differ as to the rank that should be accorded each, and the appearance of any one of them is an assurance of a fine ren dering of the leading soprano role, and the resources of the Company are such as to enable the manager to cast a fine support each evening, and yet present variety in the singers as well as the music. The only wonder is that so good a Company could be brought with so little heralding of its merits. Last night the opera was "Lucia Di Lammermoor"—with Mile. Litta in her great role of 'Lucia." It was all things considered, decidedly the finest performance of the week. The audience was a fine one, but not as large as the excellence of the attraction deserved, but it was one thoroughly in love with the masic, and from the first it could be seen that Mile. Litta's previous appearance here had made the people her warm friends. Extended comment of the opera of last evening "Lucia" is uncalled for; indeed, little other characters. than words of praise could be justly used in speaking of the several artists and their rendering of the well-known genus of this opera, as all the numbers were given with an even degree of excellence, artists, chorus, and orchestra working together in the best manner, and, as indicated, producin: a most satisfactory results. Mile. Litin was called before the curtain several times and received a number of floral tributes, the last one being a beautiful "Lyre" made of white and red flowers.

She sung with an energy and good humor that carried the audience with her all the time, but there was some disappointment when she refused to respond to such an en-appearance, but he was not long in establishing himself as an acknowledged favorite. His voice is full, round and strong, and he is a good actor as well as a fine sing-Mr. Gottschalk, a conscientious singer, who is always warmty welcomed here, sang the role of "Ashton," and did it well, as he does whatever is assigned him. All the other important parts were very acceptably rendered. Ti-night we are to have "Puritani," with Mile. La Blanche as Elvira; Miss Valerga, the Queen; Siz. Lazzarini, Arture; Sig. Storti, Ricardo; Monseur Castelmary, Georgio.

Saturday matinee, "Mignon"—Mile. La Blanche as Mignon; Miss Litta as Filina; Miss Lancaster as Frederico; Sig. Lazzarini, Guglielmo; Mr. Gottschalk, Lotario; Sig. Lafontaine, Laerte; Sig. Ferrario, Giarno. Saturday evening, farewell performance, "Aida."

MURDEROUS ASSAULT.

A Private Watchman Badly Beaten on Vine Street This Morning.

About 3 o'clock this morning William that rent. Oester, the private watchman at Heuck's Opera-house, had his attention drawn to a row going on in front of the Tivoli Hall a few doors above Heuck's, by a young man named Louis Meyers.

The latter started toward the Trivoli ahead of Oester, who had to look the side door before he could go. When Meyers got to the Tivoli he found three men beating the private watchman of Esher's Palace, John Henning. Meyers endeavored to stop the row, when the men left Henning and commenced slugging him.

Oester by this time made his appearance, when the trio fled up Vine street as hard as they could go. Henning was found lying in the gutter with his head resting upon the curb st ne. Oester and Meyers carried him into the side entrance of the Tivoli Hall, where an effort was made to restore him to consciousness.

Dr. Querner was sent for, and he ordered Henning removed to the Cincinnati Hospital, where he is at present in a semi-conscious condition. The extent of his injuries have not yet been determined. He had received a terrible blow on the left temple with some heavy weapon, and this blow may probably cause his death.

Who the assailants were is not known, but it is thought probable that they may have been friends of William Smith, whom Henning killed about five years ago in front of Weilert's saloon. No arrests have vet been made.
